

Hello, my name is :

SJOFNART

I'm Sjöfnart, an artist born in Paris in 1968 and currently living and working in Montreal, Canada.

After finishing my artistic studies and graduating in 1986, I became freelance illustrator and multimedia graphic designer.

In 1998, I joined the video games industry working for Ubisoft France. Then, in 2004, I took advantage of a work opportunity to cross the Atlantic and settle in Montreal. For over 15 years I have worked for many other video games companies such as Gameloft, BeHavior and Warner Bros. Games.

After a burnout in 2015, I realized that I gave enough of my precious time to others and started working on my own artistic projects.

Originally I started drawing erotic artworks as part of a homemade therapy, but I quickly get to like it to the point that I has never stopped since! My creations represent rather explicit nudes or more classic subjects in a very graphic art style close to comics and pop art.

Among my influences, we can find artists such as: Roberto "Magnus" Raviola, Rockin Jelly Bean, Roberto Baldazzini and of course, famous pop-artist Roy Lichtenstein.

For now, I participated in two exhibitions :

In July 2017, my first exhibition was held at l'Orage, Montreal's famous swinger club.

In November 2017, I took part in a second exhibition at the Concorde Gallery in Paris.
